

Abstract of the Disclosure

The method electronically identifies a vehicle wheel on-the-fly moving downstream from one processing location to another. The method includes the steps of locating a machine-readable identification mark applied to an exposed surface of the vehicle wheel as the vehicle wheel. The identification mark is electronically read on-the-fly.